March 22, 2010

The Arizona Board of Appraisal on April 19th 2010 will officially welcome Mr. Dan Pietropaulo as its new Executive Director.

Dan Pietropaulo has been an appraiser for 28 years and came to the profession from the lending industry. The lending industry provided experience in residential and commercial lending, title, closing, and management.

He received his Certified General Real Estate Appraiser number in the first round of testing in 1991 and has been active since. His background includes commercial, residential, and FHA appraising and has completed thousands of assignments.

Although several years included employment as a bank appraiser and with other independent shops, he has spent 19 years as a self employed appraiser and owner of a small shop. His experience also includes government appraising and he comes to us from the Arizona State Land Department as Chief Appraiser.

His diverse appraisal background of banking, lending, title, commercial and residential appraising, government appraising, FHA, and being an independent appraiser will prove well rounded and beneficial to directing the Arizona Board of Appraisal. It provides him the ability to see industry issues from all sides and be an effective leader.

Sincerely,

Lester G. Abrams
Chairman
Arizona Board of Appraisal
